A Trail Guide needs to:

- Be aware of and promote safety on the Trail
- Be assertive and take charge, it's your job, be heard from more than 3 feet away.
- Know how to appropriately use a CB radio (language, being a tour guide, etc.)
- Have a sense of humour and be able to laugh at yourself too!
- Be a good "Tread Lightly" example to participants
- Be able to keep the mood light and pleasant on the Trail
- Ensure new participants are coached and mentored on their trail. Care must be taken at the trailhead to inquire who is new to the off-road experience and place them in the appropriate spots in the line.
- Take extra care and time with new participants ensuring they understand how to overcome certain obstacles with your guidance.
- In order to ensure a good flow through the day with minimum set backs you may need to work more with these inexperienced Jeepers.
- Be comfortable with the workload and leadership or you should not be Trail Guide.
- Be proactive and anticipate any problems whenever possible, especially with an inexperienced Jeepers.
